

powering progress

Esso (Thailand) Public Company Limited, together with other ExxonMobil affiliates, have more than a century of experience in Thailand, providing our customers with the energy they need, and fuelling economic progress. Our high quality products are transported from our state-of-the-art Esso Sriracha Refinery via pipelines, ships and trucks to our network of Esso service stations and distribution channels nationwide. Every day we serve the needs of millions of people by supplying quality petroleum products in an environmentally and socially responsible manner. Why do we do this? Because we are committed to help ensure Thailand's continued economic growth, and for the benefit of generations to come.

We're working hard to get our products where they need to be.
